The Bishop's Weekly Chat With You.

We regret that the Right Reverend Bishop's Chat dealing with his audience with the Holy Father was delayed in the issue. We hope to publish more of the Bishop's impressions of Rome and Europe in an early issue.—Diocesan Editor.

My dear Flock:

In a letter sent to the Cardinal Archbishop of Breslau, Pope Pius XI recommended very much that a Lay Apostolate function everywhere not only to help the priest in places where the priest has few contacts outside his parish, but for the purpose of leaving an impression of Catholic thought and Catholic ideals on those not belonging to the Church. The Pope tells that the Apostles themselves used the Lay Apostolate, and quotes St. Paul in his letter to the Philippians, who thanks his "fellow-laborers" and asks that people aid the women "who labor with me in the Gospel." The Holy Father calls the activity of the Lay Apostolate "Catholic Action."

The Holy Father continues: "In effect, Catholic Action consists not merely of the pursuit of personal Christian perfection, which is, however, before all others its first and greatest end, but it also consists of a true apostolate in which Catholics of every social class participate, coming thus to be united in thought and action around these centers of sound doctrine and multiple social activity, legitimately constituted and, as a result, aided and sustained by the authority of the bishops."

"This chosen legion of Catholics, thus united and at the disposition of the ecclesiastical hierarchy, receives its mandates from the same source from which it receives its vigorous impulse. That is why, because of its divine mandates from the Church and its hierarchical apostleship, Catholic Action will never be of a material order, but celestial; never political, but religious. Moreover, social action should be mentioned to good purpose, since it tends to extend the reign of Christ, thus to procure for society the greatest good and, consequently, everything that goes with it; that is to say, all those things which by nature belong to a nation and are called political,—welfare that is not private or individual but common to all citizens."

"A noble end that which Catholic Action can and ought to attain is pointing out the obedience due the laws of God and the Church, and in keeping itself outside of and above all political parties. Animated and sustained by such a spirit, Catholics who participate in the apostolate of the hierarchy can not fail to promote, as an ultimate end, the union of all the faithful of all nations in religious and moral order and, as its supreme end, the diffusion, the defense and the practice of Christian faith and doctrine in individual, family and civil life."

"It is easy to understand how Catholic Action in its practical realization should vary according to the needs of the people."

FAMED CATHEDRAL TO BE REPAIRED

Engineers of the Mexican government are drilling to determine the condition of the foundation of the Mexico City Cathedral, the largest cathedral in North America. Steps will be taken to repair damage done to the cathedral in earthquakes of the past.

PLAN THE BISHOP'S HOME-COMING JUNE 19

Returning home from Rome, where he made his quinquennial visit to His Holiness Pope Pius XI, and toured a number of European countries, the Rt. Rev. John F. Noll, D. D., bishop of the diocese of Fort Wayne, will be given a welcoming demonstration in Fort Wayne, Wednesday night, June 19.

The Bishop sailed last Saturday from Southampton on the S. S. Pennland of the Red Star line, due in New York, Monday, June 17.

The Very Rev. Monsignor Kroll, golden jubilarian, will meet the prelate and accompany him to Lima, Ohio. A special coach will leave Fort Wayne for Lima at 12:50 p. m., Daylight Savings Time, on Wednesday, bearing the reception committee of priests and laymen. The Pennsylvania Railway officials expect a minimum of twenty-five passengers for this car. Fare, round trip, $5.80. Father Horstman has charge of these tickets. The Bishop's party reaches Ft. Wayne at 8:35 p. m., D. S. Time.

At the main entrance of the Cathedral, which will be appropriately decorated for the festive occasion, the Bishop will be welcomed by the Hon. William P. Breen, speaking in behalf of the laity. Entering the Cathedral the Bishop will advance to the sanctuary where prayers of thanksgiving will be intoned. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John P. Durham, Vicar General of the diocese and pastor of St. Paul's church, Marion, will welcome the Bishop in behalf of the diocesan clergy. The Rev. Thomas M. Conroy, rector of the Cathedral, will welcome the prelate in behalf of the local clergy and the Cathedral parish.

The Bishop will impart to the congregation the Apostolic blessing of Pope Pius XI, services concluding with benediction with the Most Blessed Sacrament. Trustees of the Cathedral serving as a lay escort to the Bishop are: William P. Breen, Patrick J. McDonald, Frank X. Didier and Charles M. Niezer.

ARCHBISHOP RUIZ AND BISHOP DIAZ ARE NOW IN MEXICO

Former, as Apostolic Delegate, Will Confer With President Portes Gil With View To Effecting Settlement of Religious Issue—General Gorostieta Killed—Bishop of Tepic Approves Steps Taken By Archbishop

Laredo, Tex.—The Most Rev. Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, newly appointed Apostolic Delegate to Mexico, and the Rt. Rev. Pascual Diaz, Bishop of Tlaxcala, crossed the international border into their native land recently. Archbishop Ruiz is on his way to confer with Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil relative to a settlement of the religious problem which for nearly three years has kept the nation in a state of unrest.

The two prelates were expelled from Mexico in April, 1927, Archbishop Ruiz being deported to the United States with the late Archbishop Mora y del Rio, Primate of Mexico. Bishop Diaz, then secretary of the Mexican Hierarchy, was taken by the police through the brush to the Guatemalan border. For several days nothing was heard from either the Bishop or his escort and great concern was felt. It developed that his entry into Guatemala was halted by the fact that he is a member of the Society of Jesus.

After considerable waiting, influential Catholics were able to get the Guatemalan officials to permit Bishop Diaz to enter, despite the fact that that nation has a law forbidding Jesuits to come into her territory. Promise was given that the Bishop's stay would be only temporary. He then went to Cuba and subsequently came to the United States.

The appointment by Pope Pius of Archbishop Ruiz as Apostolic Delegate to Mexico followed an exchange of declarations between the Archbishop and President Portes Gil in which each expressed a willingness to confer on a program of reconciliation. Both the Archbishop and the President affirmed their belief that a settlement could be reached.

President Portes Gil stated that he was ready to hold conferences with Archbishop Ruiz or any duly appointed representative of the Church.

Archbishop Ruiz then sent a questionnaire to the other members of the Mexican Hierarchy asking their opinions as to the advisability of holding such meetings with the Government representatives. Receipt of affirmative responses was followed by the action of the Holy See in appointing Archbishop Ruiz as Apostolic Delegate.

San Antonio, Tex.—Release of the Catholics imprisoned at the Islas Marias penal colony will be the first step in the reconciliation between the Church and State in Mexico, the newspaper La Prensa, published here, predicts in an article reviewing steps which have been taken to bring about religious peace in that country. The religious prisoners include many nuns and Catholic laywomen who were seized on charges of sedition.

From the early days of the Calles regime's clash with the Church, religious prisoners have been deported to the Islas Marias penal colony. Scores of Catholics, religious and lay, men and women, were shipped to the island prison and soon stories were told in Mexico City and in Washington of deplorable conditions existing there. Chief of the abuses reported was the overcrowding. Protest also was made at the mingling of religious prisoners with the hardened criminals who had been the only inmates of the penal colony.

Mexico City.—Gen. Enrique Gorostieta, leader of the religious rebels in the State of Jalisco, was killed in a recent battle with Federals in that State, according to a statement issued by the Ministry of War.

The death of the man who called his followers the "Liberators" came only a few days after he had assembled his troops, informed them that the religious conflict was being arranged and ordered them to disband and return to civil life.

The death of the former Federal general, one of the last of the army officers bred in the old school of Porfirio Diaz, marks the end of the long drawn-out campaign against guerrilla bands that have been active in Jalisco ever since the church restrictions went into effect, nearly three years ago, it was felt in the Capital.

Announcement was made that instructions had been issued to Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, whose troops slew Gorostieta, to send the body to Mexico City, where it is to be handed over to relatives.

One account received here of the death of Gen. Gorostieta to the effect that it occurred near San Julian, on Monday, Gorostieta, it was stated, went to hear Mass and then rejoined his troops at Hacienda Valle. Troops of the Thirteenth Battalion overtook them and after surrounding them opened fire. Gorostieta, it was stated, fell early in the fight.

Los Angeles.—An interview in which he affirmed his faith in the possibility of a reconciliation between the Church and the Mexican Government has been given to the newspaper La Opinion by the Rt. Rev. Manuel Azpeltia y Palomar, Bishop of Tepic.

In the interview, Bishop Azpeltia approved the steps which have been taken by Archbishop Ruiz y Flores, just named Apostolic Delegate to Mexico, looking toward a settlement

FEDERAL EDUCATION ADVISORS INCLUDE CATHOLIC PRIESTS

Sec. Wilbur Names Msgr. Edward A. Pace and Dr. George Johnson To Serve On His Special Committee—Dr. Johnson To Act With Approval of N. C. W. C. Administrative Committee

Washington.—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward A. Pace, Vice Rector of the Catholic University of America, and the Rev. Dr. George Johnson of the Catholic University and Executive Secretary of the Department of Education, N. C. W. C., are members of the advisory committee on education appointed by Secretary of Interior Wilbur which met here recently. It is believed that this is the first time in history that representatives of Catholic educational agencies have been invited by the Federal Government to participate in such an undertaking.

The advisory committee, which is made up of 46 representatives of educational institutions and of organizations interested in education from all parts of the country, has been appointed to study the relations of the National Government to education. Secretary Wilbur has divided it into three sections. The first will study Federal activities in education, the second, Federal grants to colleges, and the third, Federal grants to schools of less than college grade.

Monsignor Pace, as a member of the committee, represents the Catholic University of America with the approval of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees of the University.

Dr. Johnson's Acting Approved

Dr. Johnson as a member of the Committee represents the National Catholic Educational Association and as Executive Secretary of the Department of Education of the National Catholic Welfare Conference served with the approval of the Administrative Committee of the Conference. Dr. Johnson's participation was approved by the Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, Archbishop of San Francisco, Chairman of the Administrative Committee; the Most Rev. Austin Dowling, Archbishop of St. Paul; the Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Lillis, Bishop of Kansas City; the Rt. Rev. John Gregory Murray, Bishop of Portland; the Rt. Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, Bishop of Harrisburg; and the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, Bishop of Pittsburgh. The Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, Bishop of Cleveland, the other member of the committee, is absent from the country.

Dr. Johnson is a member of that group of the advisory committee which is to study Federal activities in education, while Monsignor Pace is a member of the second group, which is to study Federal subsidies to colleges. Neither is a member of the third group, which is to study Federal subsidies to schools of less than the college grade.

THREE C. C. H. STUDENTS WINNERS IN HISTORY CONTEST

Roffelsen Awarded Silver Cup for Irish History—Two Receive Honor Certificates.

Harry Roffelsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Roffelsen, 2009 South Broadway, a Junior at Central Catholic high school, Fort Wayne, has been awarded first place in Indiana in the Irish History contest for 1929 conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians. "Famous Irish Writers and Their Contributions to Literature" was the topic of the winning paper. Besides winning first place locally, Roffelsen was rated fifth in the United States.

A silver loving cup suitably engraved was presented to the young man at the seventeenth annual commencement of C. C. H. S., held June 12. At the same time honorable mention certificates in the national contest were presented to two other students of the high school, Francis Staub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Staub, 332 East Washington boulevard, and Joseph Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schwartz, 3223 South Webster street. Roffelsen has made the honor roll consistently during his three years at Central Catholic. Schwartz will captain the basketball squad next fall. Sixty essays in the contest were received from Indiana students in high schools and colleges.

The Brothers of Holy Cross, Fort Wayne, were notified of the success of the boys by Miss Margaret Logan, state chairman of Irish History, who received the contest returns from Miss Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schwartz, 3223 South Webster street, Calif., national chairman of Irish History.

FATHER ALBERTSON, NOTRE DAME, DIES

The Rev. George A. Albertson, C. S. C., dean of the college of science at the University of Notre Dame and an eminent educator and lecturer, died suddenly last Friday evening in the university infirmary of an acute heart attack superinduced by indigestion. He was 42 years of age.

Father Albertson had been ill since commencement a week ago and had entered the infirmary for a few days' rest and treatment. A short time before his death a number of priests of the university had visited him and found him in excellent spirit and seemingly improved health. However, within a few hours they were recalled to the hospital to administer the last rites of the church to their friend and confessor.

Father Albertson, who was one of the most popular and beloved priests of the Congregation of the Holy Cross, came to Notre Dame in 1912, after attending the Kalamazoo normal school and University of Michigan. His elementary education was received in the parochial and high schools of Kalamazoo, Mich., near which city he was born Oct. 1, 1886.

Funeral services were held at Notre Dame, Monday morning, June 10, with the Rev. James Burns, C. S. C., provincial of the Holy Cross congregation, as celebrant.

Members of Mazoni seminary choir furnished the music. Interment was made in the community cemetery.

Ethel Barrymore's Daughter Graduates At Catholic College

Philadelphia.—Miss Ethel Barrymore Colt, 18 years old, daughter of Ethel Barrymore and granddaughter of Mrs. George Drew Barrymore, was graduated from Notre Dame Academy at Moylan, near here. She won the school's highest honors in Music.

Her mother was graduated from the same school thirty-six years ago and her grandmother in 1872.

The Barrymore Theater in New York was closed for the day while the famous actress attended the commencement.

Catholics' Apathy Toward Calumnies Is Noted By Writer

Boston.—Answering a correspondent who charged, in the Boston Transcript, that "Catholics are ever ready to answer (when they can) attacks upon their church," Dennis A. McCarthy, in a letter published in the same newspaper, declares that quite the contrary he has found Catholics singularly inert in explaining, against misrepresentation, the real teaching and practice of the church.

Declaring that he is unable to account for this apathy, Mr. McCarthy writes, in part:

"It may be that Catholics have come to feel that there is no use arguing with or explaining things to certain people. It may be that Catholics shrug their shoulders when they read inconsequential and indeed illogical comments or questions such as those which appear in the correspondent's letter which I have in mind, and that they simply say: 'Oh, what's the use?'"

"I confess this feeling often comes to me when I note the recurrence of questions which have been answered times without number and which are never asked among intelligent people who know the literature of controversy."

"Instead of being ever ready, as your correspondent asserts, to reply to charges against the Church, this is the attitude, so far as a life-time's experience has revealed it, that I find among my co-religionists. I wish Catholics were more ready to answer—not, however, in a spirit of controversy but in one of explanation."

"The best of all answers, of course, for a Catholic to make to attacks upon the Church, is to lead a good life and to be a good citizen. If I speak with the tongue of men and of angels concerning the righteous teachings of the Church, while I myself am a living denial of the power of those teachings to reach and form my life and character in decency and kindness, then surely am I become as sounding brass and tinkling cymbal, so far as the effect my talk will have upon those around me."

WORDS THAT BEAT HARDY SPELLERS

It Was "Luxuriance," the 660th, That Decided the Fate of One of the Last Two Survivors in the National Bee at Washington.

This feature article from the New York Times throws interesting sidelights on the victory of Virginia Hogan, Catholic School pupil. The insert is a sketch of Virginia.

Shades of the old Hoosier schoolmaster stirred restlessly last Tuesday, when the word "luxuriance" felled one of the last two survivors of the national spelling bee held at Washington under the auspices of The Louisville Courier-Journal and nineteen other newspapers. The loser had decided to spell it "luxuriance." It was the 660th word given the contestants.

In this contest, however, there was more than a place at the head of the line for the winner, and a dunce-cap and stool in the corner for the loser. The little girl of 13 who won the cash prize from the other score of selected spellers from all over the country did not have to apologize.

"I'm sorry that I spelled the word. I hate to go above you," she said. "Luxuriance" will now take its place with "knack" on which last year's contest was won by another girl of 13, and with "abrogate," which won the victory in 1927 for a boy of the same age.

The word which put out the winner of third place, a Japanese boy of 15, was "panacea." He, having come to this country only five years before and knowing no word of English, confided that he had never before heard of panacea, and unfortunately put an "s" before the "c."

Words That Thinned the Ranks
The word "planetary" brought the first casualty, the young contestant putting another "a" where the "e" should be. "Monastery" then caused the downfall of another hopeful, and the fearsome "annihilate," followed by "vigilance" and "connubial" each accounted for one victim.

As the three-hour contest wore on, longer and harder words, words in which the troublesome vowels "e," "a" and "i" seemed interchangeable, by sound any way, predominated, were brought forth to continue the slaughter. One by one the spellers dropped out, one being accounted for by each of the following: "Onerous," "correlate," "entastrophe," "belligerent," "adequate," "prodigious," "corral," "infringement," "aggrandizement," "imminent" and "diaphanous." An "s" was put in "gamut," an "m" left out of "millennium," two more bit the dust.

Finally only two contestants were left, and bigger and more obscure words were given out. The girls stood up nobly to such words as "separative," "ananacle," "dilatatory," "juniper," "mimicked," "coagitation," "gratitate," "discuss," "collapsible," "gnash," and "arbutus." At last "luxuriance" proved the stumbling block to one girl and won the prize for the other.

Dem. Kratz—It's a cinch Al Smith will have a better chance in the next campaign.

Rep. Kan—How do you figure that?

Dem. Kratz—A Hoover that has had four years hard service in the White House will never be able to make a clean sweep.

"Don't you dare make a scene here," yelled the irate farmer as he ordered the movie troupe off his farm.

Winner

Many who still lament the passing of the old spelling bee recall the Squire's speech opening the contest, a eulogy on the art of spelling:

"I feel as if I could be grandiloquent on this interesting occasion, but raley I must forego any such exertions. It is spelling you want, spelling is the cornerstone, the grand, underlying subterfuge of a good education. I put the spelling book prepared by the great Daniel Webster alongside the Bible. I do raley. I think I may put it ahead of the Bible. For if it weren't for spelling books and such occasions as these where would the Bible be, I should like to know. The man who got up, who compounded this work of inextricable value, was a benefactor to the human race—or any other."

Pill—So young Attaboy and his father are carrying on the business?

Dickie—Yes. The old man runs the business while young Attaboy does the carrying on.

"Didn't I give you a piece of pie last week?" demanded the cooking-school graduate, who had just been married.

"I fooled you, ma'am," replied the tramp. "I didn't eat it."

SCENE OF NOTABLE CEREMONIES

Sunday, St. Peter's was the scene of the beatification of Don Bosco, founder of the Salesians. All the lights in the edifice, all the beauty of the altars, all the elaborate ceremonies at their command were employed by church authorities to make the occasion memorable.

SILHOUETTES OF THE SAINTS

Cheap Bread Cheats The Young Husband There IS a difference in bread

HIS career before him—a wife to support—a home to keep up—babies to feed. He can't succeed with cheap bread lacking needed nourishment.

His mind must be alert—his body active and strong. Ready for each new opportunity. Ready to make good, to get ahead, to prosper.

His food must be the best, particularly the bread, his most important food.

Young wives who know these great truths serve Holsum bread for its rich nourishing goodness... because it helps husbands through each day's work. And because it is so inexpensive to serve.

Holsum takes the place of many more expensive foods that lack needed nourishment.

For refreshing health, for true economy, hundreds are changing to Holsum. Thousands have changed to Holsum. Have you?
